Introduction
Linda Kolar ranks at top

Linda Kolar compiled a nearly perfect scholastic record and graduated as the Valedictorian of her class. Finishing first in her class, though, was just one of her academic achievements. She also won a National Merit Scholarship, standing as an Illinois State Scholar, a Presidential Academic Fitness Award, the Rensselaer Medal for Mathematics and Science, and the Brown University Book Award.

Her outstanding scholarship (along with character, leadership and service) also earned her membership as a junior in the National Honor Society. At Graduation, she received scholarships from Orchestra and the Boosters.

Among her extra-curricular activities were Students in Village Government and Mu Alpha Theta. She was a member of the French Honor Society, Treasurer of French Club, Publicity Director and Choreographer of Orchestra, a Byzantium staff member, and a choreographer for the Flag Corps.

Enrolled in honors courses and active outside the classroom, she still earned a 9.49 grade point average to finish at the top of her graduating class.

Terry Fong finishes second

Terry Fong earned an A Plus academic average, second-place standing among his classmates, and the honor of being Salutatorian of the Class of 1984. His scholastic ability was recognized on the state and national level, too. He was an Illinois State Scholar and a National Merit Scholarship Finalist.

His high grades, leadership, service, and character earned him membership in the National Honor Society.

A participant in the Achieve Seminar, he made his own holograms with a laser. In the Science Olympics, he earned four gold medals and one silver medal.

Terry was also outstanding in many extra-curricular activities, especially music. A member of the Youth Symphony of DuPage, he was a violinist for four school musicals. In 1983, he was made Concertmaster of Orchestra. In 1984, he was the winner of the Merlin Eccott Memorial Award and the National School Orchestra Award.

A member of Math Club, Mu Alpha Theta and the French Honor Society, Terry was Layout Editor for Byzantium and a disc jockey for Radio WGRHS.

Whether it was music or mathemat- ics, Terry excelled.

Seven seniors make semifinals

Seven seniors made it to the semifinals of the National Merit Scholarship Competition. Andrew Andreasik, Patrick Davis, Nick Dagan, Terry Fong, Linda Kolar, William Peyton, and Kathryn Tilden had scores on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test that placed them in the top half of one percent of Illinois' seniors. They were among the 15,000 students who earned semifinalist standing nationwide.

More than one million students from 18,000 high schools competed.

Andrew Andreasik, Dagan, Fong, Kolar, Peyton and Tilden advanced to the finals.

Nineteen win commendation

Nineteen seniors received Letters of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for their outstanding achievement on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test. These students were among the 35,000 who were designated Commended Students throughout the fifty states. Although these scholars just missed qualifying for Semifinalist standing, their scores ranked them in the upper five percent of all students who took the PSAT nationwide.

More than one million participated in the National Merit Competition. The seniors who received Letters of Commendation were Alison Abel, Todd Adams, Tim Allison, Zoe Davis, Kris Doyle, Annette Krenz, Robert Lewis, Alex Linder, David McQuillen, Elizabeth Morton, James Read, Gwynne Roberts, David Sorensen, Erik Sorensen, John Thompson, Chris Till, Phil Vischer, Scott Williams, and Rachel Zimmerman.

State salutes senior scholars

Almost twenty percent of the class of 1984 were selected by the Illinois State Scholarship Commission as Illinois State Scholars.

Selected on the basis of their class rank and American College Test scores, 81 seniors received Certificates of Merit from the Commission, which marked them as high school students with high academic potential.

Honor Society inducts members

Eighty-eight students were elected to the National Honor Society in May at a formal ceremony held in the auditorium.

The new members were selected on the basis of their scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

Tracy Tasker, NHS President, welcomed the guests and opened the ceremony.

Mrs. Marjorie Bardeen, President of the Board of Education, followed with a greeting, and Dr. Kenneth Smith spoke from "A Parent’s View."

Then the NHS officers conducted the Induction Candlelighting Ceremony, and the new members were received by Mr. Richard Stark, NHS advisor.

Each new NHS member was awarded a pin and certificate by Dr. Robert Elliott.

A reception was held in the library after the ceremony.

Commenement held outdoors

Four hundred seniors were given their diplomas in an outdoor ceremony held at Dushon Field on June 17.

In a procession which began in the Auditorium, the seniors streamed down from the hilltop to the football field as the Band played the familiar but still poignant Pomp and Circumstance. With Lake Ellyn in the background, the seniors sat in stands placed on the football field, facing the building. Seated in the south bleachers, guests of the graduates rose and joined them in the Pledge of Allegiance, led by Bob Lewis, as the ceremony began.

Chris Day and Quintin Porter then led the singing of the National Anthem. Speaking first, Tom Reitz offered a "Formula for Success" and then Rachel Zimmerman spoke on the big word "It."

The Choir followed with Exhortations and Halls of Ivy.

Next, Andy Andreadakis reviewed "Four Years of Excellence" and Valedictorian Linda Kolar gave her classmates their last "Thought for the Day."

Dr. Robert Elliott then presented the Class of 1984 to Mr. John Westover, who represented the Board of Education.

Approved for graduation, the seniors were awarded their diplomas by Mr. Don Lovett, Mr. Cleveland Holmes, and Mr. George Zabolotsky (faculty fathers of graduates). Mr. Gene DeClark, Mr. Jean Devaud, and Ms. Jan Seidler (retiring teachers), and Dr. Elliott.

After the seniors had received their diplomas, scholarships and awards were announced and presented.

Among the recipients was Erin Doyle, who won the Senior Honor Medal, which is given to the student whose contributions, character, leadership, service and scholarship made Glenbard a better high school.

Following these awards the Choir sang the benediction, the Band played the Crown Imperial March, and high school had ended for four-hundred students.

Hilltoppers turned Homecoming into a week-long celebration featuring games, a pep rally, bonfire, parade, football game, and dance.

Winners of the Game Week contests included Mike Foley (Hat Day), Kathryn Keown and Darryl Malak (Legs Day), Kim Pierce, Nancy Cunningham, Roger Roescher and Mark Chaffin (Twins Day) and Linda Kolar (Button Day).

The Friday night pep rally in Biester Gym included talks by Mr. Bill Duchon and Coach Jim Covert, several skits by students, and the introduction of the Homecoming Queen and Court.

Following the pep rally was a torch light procession to Lake Ellyn, where a crowd of Hitter fans watched the York Duke barn in effigy in the bonfire.

On Saturday morning, the Hilltoppers marched down Main Street in the annual Homecoming Parade. Floats entered by the Glenbard Athletic Association, the Choir, and the Senior Class won first place awards.

In the afternoon, Jim Konopka led the Hitters to a 36-15 victory over York. Konopka rushed for almost 300 yards and scored two touchdowns.

The halftime show featured the Band, Topperettes, salutes to alumni, and the presentation of the Queen and Court.

To climax their Saturday celebration, couples went to "Casablanca" (the Girls Gym), where Queen Jenny Nichol reigned at the Homecoming Dance.

Homecoming events were organized by Rob Brookman (Games), Marilyn H Are and Janet Bartucci (Pep Rally), Anne Mylander (Bonfire), Laura Christmer and Emily Frank (Parade), Beth Fields (Tickets), Erin Doyle (Decorations), Kathy Tilden (Coronation), Ann Treis (Refreshments), Rachel Zimmerman (Band), and Richard Garcia (Publicity).

Couples dance in 'Casablanca'

Hundreds of happy Hilltoppers capped a week-long Homecoming celebration at a dance in "Casablanca," the setting of the famous film starring Ingrid Bergman and Humphrey Bogart.

To remind the dancers of the movie, Silker Gym was decorated with beads, ceiling fans, potted palms, balloons, parrots, and Bogart posters.

The band played fast and slow tunes, including As Time Goes By, the theme song of the film and dance.

Refreshments were served on blackjack and roulette tables.

The crowning of Jenny Nichols as Queen was the climax of the dance.

Juniors hold special festival

Robed in medieval apparel, English III Honors students gathered at Lake Ellyn to take part in their annual Medievalfest on "All Hallow's Eve."

Highlights of the fest included a jousting exhibition performed by the members of King Richard's Faire and an appearance by the Black Knight. Other attractions included a magic show, medieval song and dance lessons, fencing and archery, fortune telling, and a puppet show.

Fair-goers could also participate in a scavenger hunt, have their face painted or have an enemy tortured in a medieval torture device.

The food for the occasion (turkey legs, corn on the cob, potatoes, cider, and medieval pastries) was provided by Feast of Fowl from King Dick's Faire.

The students created a story line which contained two rival kingdoms: Glenchester and West Glen. The kingdoms went through three trials: test of the wits, test of the heart, and test of the arms to decide the true ruler of the land.

The kingdom of West Glen won, and the coronation of their king and queen concluded the fest.

The fest, which ran from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m., was organized by Miss Barbara Dill and Mr. Randal Hendee.

Audiences were presented an amusing look at the daydreams of a bored housewife in "The Secret Affairs of Mildred Wild" on three nights in October.

To escape the dullness of her daily life, Mildred enters a world of fantasy where she is visited by Hollywood stars such as Clark Gable, Fred Astaire, the Invisible Man, and Tarzan.

Needless to say, most people around Mildred don't understand her relationship with her film-world friends.

The play was written by Paul Zindel, well known for his novel "The Pigman" and other works popular with teenagers.

Mr. Mike Kolodziej directed the play, which he appeared in himself when he was a junior in high school. Assisting him was Jim Frank, who served as stage manager for the production.

Mr. Doug Quinn, Director of Theater, designed the set. The Technical Director was Mr. Dave Natchke, who helped in lights, sound and other areas.

He was the house bass player for Shubert Theater for fifteen years. At West he was also the Director of the Jazz Ensemble, which he guided for thirteen seasons, finally turning over the group to Mr. Jack Luke in 1980.

In his first year as the Director of Orchestra, Mr. Mark Hengst started a program of rebuilding and recruitment.

They sang songs that ranged from the classics to spirituals and show tunes.

Blast from past draws hundreds to Senior Class Fifties Dance

More than 500 students cruised down to the Girls’ Gym for a night of rock and roll at the Fifties Dance, which was sponsored by the Senior Class.

Guys with slicked back hair and girls wearing poodle shirts danced to music played by the Blast from the Past.

Two local groups performed during the breaks taken by the main band.

The Schmedley Brothers (Tim Allisen, Chris Cole, Chris Day, and Steve Glenn) played during the first break, and the Blues Brothers (Mr. Mike Kolodziej and Quintin Porter) sang in the second.

The Blues Brothers were backed up by Chris Danzgarten, Dave Holland, and Neal Nicholas.

In the jitterbug contest, Jay Carr, Laura Karsien, Chad Alcorn, and Joyce Lazier were the prize winners.

Rachel Zimmerman was the MC. At the kissing booth, everybody won! Radio WOHS promoted the dance with a show from 6:00 to 8:00 and then offered live coverage from the gym.

The sale of tickets and refreshments added $700 to the seniors’ treasury.

Dancers trace musical history

Twelve groups of modern dancers gave their audience a review of the changing styles of music in an Orchesis Concert entitled Dance, Dance, Dance and given in the Auditorium in May. The program included a dozen dances arranged in chronological order, starting with Fifth of Beethoven and ending with Footloose. And dance they did!

The dance numbers included calypso, soft shoe, punk, disco, boogie woogie, soul, pop, beach and jitter bug. Orchesis choreographers performed in Rock Lobster, and an all-male group did break dancing in Dance, Dance, Dance.

The other dances were Pottin' on the Ritz, In the Mood, Great Balls of Fire, Wigout, Twist and Shout, Le Freak, Let It Whip, and Calypso Breakdown.

The money earned from the concert was put toward a $500 scholarship, awarded to Linda Kolar.

Hundreds go to annual Prom

Almost 500 people went to the Junior-Senior Prom, the last big social event of the school year. Held at the Medina Country Club, the formal dance featured the music of The Heroes, who played pop tunes.

When they were not dancing, couples enjoyed cokes and hors d'oeuvres or sat outside on the patio.

Planned by the Junior Class Officers and their advisor, Mr. George Kalivoda, Prom focused on Just You and Me. Bob Cvengies and Jennifer Gelderman were crowned Prom King and Queen.

Volleyball Team wins State Title

In their greatest season ever, the Volleyball Team won 36 games, the West Suburban Conference Title, and the State Championship. Winning the State Title capped a three-year drive for Coach Steve Burkhardt and the Toppers, who were third in 1981, second in 1982, and finally State Champions in 1983.

The final showdown at Springfield was also the climax of a three-year rivalry with Mother McAuley, who kept the Toppers from the State Title in 1982 and 1983.

The Toppers beat the Mighty Mags in the Hilltopper Invitational and the State Final.

The only blemish on the Spikers' almost perfect record was the loss to Oak Forest at the Maine West Tourney.

The Hilltoppers (36-1 overall) were also victors in the Hilltopper and Rich East Tournaments.

Jennifer Aubuchon, Missy Larson, and Nancy Reno were named All-State by the Tribune, Sun-Times, Champaign News Gazette, and the Coaches Association.

Aubuchon, Larson and Reno also earned All-Conference Honors. Sue Nosal earned an Honorable Mention. Nancy Reno was chosen Player of the Year by the Sun-Times and Daily Journal.

Cheerleaders compete at camp

For the third consecutive summer the Varsity Cheerleading Squad competed and excelled in the United States Cheerleading Association competition. Competing against fourteen teams from Illinois and Indiana, the girls finished third overall.

They were judged on pep, unison, and coordination.

The team was enlarged from twelve to seventeen girls, who cheered at football, basketball, and soccer games.

Besides leading cheers, they decorated lockers and baked food for players.

Mrs. Kerri Anderson, a former Glenbard West cheerleader and wife of Coach Don Anderson, coached the squad.

Topperettes win first place

The Topperettes kicked off their year at the summer pom-pom camp sponsored by the National Cheerleading Association, held at Normal, Illinois, where they earned a first-place trophy for their China Grove routine.

Off to a good start, the squad went on to perform at pep rallies, football games, and basketball games.

The Topperettes also performed at the Green and White Game, a girls' basketball game, and other gatherings.

A special senior routine (She's got Everything) was done with costumes. In recognition of her contributions to the squad, Sally Triebel was elected the Most Valuable Topperette.

Skill, showmanship, and attitude won Tracy Correnti the votes of her peers for the title of Miss Topperette.

The leaders of the team were Captain Sally Triebel, Senior Cheerleaders Tracy Correnti and Kirsten Pond, and Junior Cheerleader Janet Schaper.

Mrs. Marti Seeman and Mr. Mark Hengsh were the faculty advisors.

They won the championship in the Lake Park Quadrangular and the Hilltopper Invitational Tournaments.

Club sponsors athletic events

The Glenbard athletic Association organized tournaments, social events, and after-school athletics for its members and the student body. In their challenge-the-press contests, students played faculty members in such games as badminton. Also offered were gym jams featuring volleyball, gymnastics, basketball, and other contests.

To help pay for these activities, the GAA raised money through the sale of flowers on Valentine's Day and the sale of the student telephone directory (The VIP) and car washes.

Right: Sue Knotting and Devine Paletta ride the GAA Homecoming float in the annual parade.

Pep Club backs athletes

Members of Pep Club worked behind the scenes throughout most of the year to lend support to the fall, winter, and spring athletic teams. They held workshops each Monday after school in the cafeteria to paint signs or posters to publicize upcoming games or signal student support for teams.

They decorated lockers of athletes, sold programs at home football games, ran Parents' Days, hosted Hospitality Rooms, and scheduled pep buses.

Dressed up as elves, the girls even delivered mail for Santa's mailbox.

Superintendent leaves schools

Mr. Ray Livingston (right) retired, after serving District 87 for 25 years as a teacher, an administrator, and the Superintendent of Schools.

Mr. Livingston joined the district in 1959 as teacher and coach, eventually became an administrative assistant to the superintendent, served as the first principal of Glenbard North and in 1978 became Superintendent of Schools.

The superintendent was praised by his peers and the public. He was named the 1984 Administrator of the Year by the Illinois Association of Educational Office Personnel and the West Suburban Association of Educational Services.

He was made an Honorary Citizen by Carol Stream, Glen Ellyn, and Lombard, which proclaimed May 18 as Ray Livingston Day.

State Representative Gene Hoffman read a letter of congratulations from Governor Jim Thompson and a resolution passed by the House in his honor. Almost five hundred people attended a dinner held in his honor in May at the Indian Lakes Country Club.

Among his many responsibilities as an administrator were registration and the master schedule. If his face was not familiar to every single student, his voice surely was. He made countless morning and end-of-the-school-day announcements over the public address system: "This is Mr. Flensburg with an announcement..."

He was recognized for his hard work and excellent service at a meeting of the Administrative Council, at the annual Breakfast, and at the Graduation ceremonies.

He was also saluted several times for superior teaching by his students, who, in appreciation, presented him with a plaque and wore T-shirts emblazoned "Disciples of DeClark."

For many years, Mr. DeClark taught algebra, trigonometry, and calculus to college-bound students. At the end of the school year he was recognized at the Annual Retirement Breakfast and at Commencement. A retirement banquet was held in his honor at the Elmhurst Country Club.
